SEASON OPENING AT NEWPORT.

SEASON OPENING AT NEWPORT.

Special Correspondence of The Republic.

Newport, R. I., June T.—Newport's season, as usual, will not really open before the second week in July. The uncommonly low temperatures have caused many cottagers to postpone settling down for the summer, but even had they arrived, Mrs. William Astor would still be awaited to take her never-failing initiative. She will not reach "Beechwood" before the second week in July. So it is safe to say the first half of the month will see only a few informal luncheons among family circles and intimate friends.

The collapse of the Merchants' Bank.

The collapse of the Merchants' Bank. The collapse of the Merchants' Bank. through the speculations of its cashier, is a severe blow locally, the extent of which has not yet been realized. It is known, however, that the summer colony will escape almost untouched. The few that are hit hold only small claims.

Yachting is to be reasonably brisk, considering that this is an off year among the racers. The New York Yacht Club races are down for July 10-12, and those of the Newport Yacht Racing Association for July 14-15. The Astor cups will also be salled for, and the Adantic, Corinthian and other yacht clubs are down to enliven the port on their annual cruises. As in years past, Newport will be the favorite place for conventions, the first scheduled being that of the Alahama Press Association, July 12. Beginning late in July the regular tennis, poloand golf tournaments and horse show will make matters lively for six weeks the final event being the meet of the Ithode Island Jockey Club, September 4-6.

The army and navy sham battles in Narnagansett Bay are expected to bring President Roosevelt here in August and altogether a fully average season is promised. Except for fete day and international yachting, all the customary events are on the calendar.

or three nuptials are sure before autumnal breezes blow.

Ping-pong and automobiling are the chief diversions, although the absence of William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., puts somewhat of a dumper on the latter sport.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, who is soon to arrive, and Mrs. Herman Oelrichs will doubtless be able to make good the absence of the third member of the social strategy board, Mrs. Oliver Belmont, who shortly sails for Europe. None of the Belmonts will entertain this summer, but the Vanderbilts and Astors are sure to be more active than for several seasons.

JAMESTOWN NOTES.

Mr. C. H. Balley of St. Louis has changed his mind about going abroad and will reach his villa here next week.

NARRAGANSETT PIER.

Special Correspondence of The Republic.

Narraganestt Pier, June & Narraganestt's social season is still very much in embryo. Several of the larger hotels have begun taking down the shutters, but arrivals will be few and far between until after the Fourth of July. The little Casino and its extrages will be run this season by a Washingtonian, while on the site of the burned Rockingham rises a new hotel.

The Point Judith Country Club has made an early start, and, while the clubhouse is still practically deserted, the place is sure to be the center of social gayeties, as last year. A new incentive to draw members is the macadam road, half a mile long, which has been laid through Wildfield farm from the Foint Judith road.

The exceptionally low temperatures have kept cottagers away and have cut the number of bathers to almost nothing, although the big bathing payllion has been open ten days.

LAKE MINNETONKA.

Special Correspondence of The Republic.

Lake Minnetonka, June 26.—The season at this resort has opened unusually early this year, while the weather has been so bracingly cool that wraps and fires have been requisites for comfort during the past month, and indeed may be enjoyed off and on for the remainder of the season.

The U. C. T. Convention, which met here the other week, made things very lively for several days and was enjoyed by every one. The opening hop of the St. Louis Hotel occurred during the time that most of the U. C. T.'s were hostelried at that place. Mrs. M. A. Evans of St. Louis, who has never failed to make her sojourn at this lake every season for the past twenty-five years, came up early in May and is at her old headquarters, the Sampson House, where she is as much at home as in St. Louis. Special Correspondence of The Republic.

as well as a summer resort, the Sampson House, which is the only hotel open on this lake during the winter season, being patronized as much at that time as during the summer season. Ice yacht racing on frozen Minneterka is the exciting sport which attracts visitors here during the winter.

Mrs. J. F. Ferguson, formerly of St. Louis, was among the early arrivals at the Sampson House this season.

Mrs. Mary Hausman of St. Louis with her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hausman, were among the first arrivals at the lake this season and are occupying their new home on Long View Hill. Excelsior. They will remain until some time in November.

Among a party of fifteen persons who arrived last week and are domiciled for the season at the Hartlett House on the upper lake are Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Taggert, Jiss Lucy Taggert and W. M. Taggert, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Janssen, Oscar and Dorothy Janssen, Miss Alice Jolwert and Miss F. Davis.

Mr. N. Heazard of St. Louis, who is also at the Bartlett House, arrived last week and expects to remain at the lake for the season.

Down at Cottage City off Cape Cod there is great blue fishing, and during the past two weeks crowds from Boston have gone down to enjoy the sport. Ex-President Cleveland and family arrived at their cottage, Buzzard's Bay, Wednesday morning for the season. Usually Mr. Cleveland has made the trip on Mr. Benedict's palattal yacht. This year he came in a special car attached to the regular train for the cape.

"Joe" Jefferson, who usually reaches his summer home on Buttermilk Bay at an early date, made no exception this year, and has been enjoying himself along the shore for nearly a month. Mr. Jefferson is in the usual good health and says he feels as well as he ever did. He has made several fishing trips to the various trout brooks and well-stocked ponds in the country about his residence and found the same rare enjoyment as formerly.

Mr. and Mrs. John David Davis, valuable acquisitions to the Shoreby Hill contingent arrived some days ago and were followed on Tuesday of this week by their son, J. Llooberger Davis, who was in attendance upon the commencement exercises at Princeton, where he has friends.

On Tuesday afternoon the town was honored by the presence of a bride and bridegroom in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson Potter (nee Miss Holland), who are pleasantly established at the Potter cottage on Shoreby Hill, where preparations for their reception had been quietly going on by the servants for some time. They were joined later in the week by Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Potter and Harry Potter, parents and brother of the bridegroom.

Signs of activity are manifest on the part of servants at the cottages of former Governor David R. Francis Edward Mailinek-rodt, Edward F. Wickham and Charles H. Bailey, where the families are expected acrly in July. Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Z. Smith will not summer at Jamestown this year.

where she is as much at home as in St. Louis.

Mrs. J. B. Poorman of St. Louis, another old-time resorter at this lake, arrived this week on the steamer Dubuque, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. J. F. Gill, of St. Louis. They also will be domiciled at the Sampson House, the favorite hostelry at this lake for St. Louisans.

Mr. Minard T. Barbour of St. Louis, whose business necessitated his making his residence for a few years in Minnesota, came up with his family early in April. They had not been here a week when they purchased one of the prettiest homes in Excelsior, where they expect to spend the summer and fall months, living in Minneapolis during the winter season.
